Aims

This remote learning policy for staff aims to:

- Ensure consistency in the approach to remote learning for pupils who aren't in school
- Set out expectations for all members of the school community with regards to remote learning
- Provide appropriate guidelines for data protection

Government Requirements

When teaching pupils remotely, schools are expected to:

- Set assignments so that pupils have meaningful and ambitious work each day in a number of different subjects
- Set work that is of equivalent length to the core teaching pupils would receive in school, and as a minimum:
- Primary: 3 hours a day in KS1, 4 hours a day in KS2.
- Provide frequent, clear explanations of new content, delivered by a teacher or through high-quality curriculum resources or videos
- Have systems for checking, at least weekly, whether pupils are engaging with their work, and inform parents immediately where engagement is a concern
- Gauge how well pupils are progressing through the curriculum using questions and other suitable tasks, and provide feedback, at least weekly, using digitally facilitated or whole-class feedback where appropriate
- Enable teachers to adjust the pace or difficulty of what is being taught in response to questions or assessments, including, where necessary, revising material or simplifying explanations to ensure pupils' understanding

Role and Responsibilities

2.1 Teachers

When providing remote learning, teachers may work from home, however, they must be available during their contracted hours and must take full responsibility for ensuring they are fully equipped to provide high quality lessons and feedback.

If they're unable to work for any reason during this time, for example due to sickness or caring for a dependent, they should report this using the normal absence procedures.

Teachers will need to provide remote learning:

- In most year groups, there will be one or two teachers teaching keyworker children in school. The other adults within the year group team will provide home learning and feedback for the children at home. These adults must also respond to queries from children/parents via the posts page on Teams.
- For children requiring support logging on, year group teams must provide children's logins so that they can access online learning.
- The first lesson of the day must be uploaded by 9am each day.
- Teachers must respond to work that has been uploaded within the normal teaching day. There is no expectation that feedback is given in the evening. Any work uploaded in the evening with receive feedback the next day.
- Children should turn in their work via 'assignments' on Microsoft Teams, allowing teachers to give feedback, monitor who is accessing learning and monitor who may need more support.
- Time scales must be shared with children so that they aware of how much time should be spent on each activity.
- Work must be differentiated/tailored to the needs of the children within each class including those with SEND.
- When filming videos and holding 'live' sessions teachers must be dressed professionally and in a suitable environment.
- Fortnightly wellbeing calls will be made to any children who are at home.
- Engagement must be monitored and children who are not engaging with remote learning must be contacted and support offered.

- When families are consistently not engaging with home learning and support has already been given, families may be provided with printed packs.
- Any safeguarding issues need to be reported to DSL.

2.2 Teaching assistants

When assisting with remote learning, teaching assistants must be available between 8.30 and 3.30pm. HLTAs, will continue to cover PPA/NQT time or give feedback on remote learning between 8.00am and 4.00pm. When assisting with remote learning, teaching assistants are responsible for:

- School laptops or IPADS should be used where possible

3.2 Processing personal data

Staff members may need to collect and/or share personal data such as email addresses as part of the remote learning system. As long as this processing is necessary for the school's official functions, individuals won't need to give permission for this to happen.

However, staff are reminded to collect and/or share as little personal data as possible online.
